

Jennifer Doehne

IRS Controversies, Business Law, Estate Planning, & Probate

Jen recognizes that death and taxes are the two constants in life and enjoys assisting clients plan for both. With many years' experience working in the taxation realm, including earning an LL.M. in taxation, Jen has the tools she needs to do just that. Jen believes that increasing client understanding to minimize the fear of taxes, as well as creating a plan to reduce or eliminate them in the future is an important endeavor. Her practice includes IRS controversies, business law, estate planning, and probate.

Jen resides in Lacey with her two active dogs. She enjoys playing volleyball, basketball, softball, and football as well as hiking, backpacking and camping with her dogs. She also spends time playing guitar, ukulele, and singing.

Academics

- Boston University School of Law, LL.M. Taxation
- Michigan State University College of Law, Juris Doctor
 - Tax Law Society, Treasurer and Community Relations Officer
 - Animal and Natural Resources Law Journal, Business Manager
 - VITA Program, Organizer, Instructor
 - Alternative Spring Break Tax Program, Co-Chair
- Averett University, Bachelor of Arts
 - Pre-Law, Criminal Justice, and History
 - Varsity Basketball and Softball
 - Spanish Club

Admitted to Practice

- Washington State Courts
- United States Tax Court

Community Involvement

- Washington Women's Lawyers – Capitol Chapter
- Thurston County Bar Association
- TCBA – Young Lawyer Section Chair
- Washington State Bar Association
- WSBA – Estate and Gift Taxation Section

Areas of Practice

- IRS Controversies
- Business Law

Bean | Gentry | Wheeler | Peternell
P.L.L.C.

- Estate Planning
- Probate